Chicago documentation style has been published by the Chicago University Press since 1906. This style incorporates rules of grammar and punctuation common in American English, and it presents two basic documentation systems:

- notes and bibliography
- author-date

Each system is favored by different groups of scholars.

NOTES AND BIBLIOGRAPHY

SHORTENED NOTES (once your source has been cited)

BIBLIOGRAPHY ENTRIES (IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER)

AUTHOR-DATE

IN-TEXT CITATIONS

(Kitamura 2017, 25)