

The American University of Paris

Classical Chinese Philosophy

as Philosophy Through Ideograms

Dr. Yu-Jung Sun

Philosophy, AUP & University
Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne

Chinese philosophy is commonly perceived by Western readers as either spiritual contemplation or a way of life, hence is linked more to culture than a philosophical tradition. In Introduction à la philosophie chinoise: penser en idéogrammes, Yu-Jung Sun demonstrates that a long-term and collective philosophical construction can be unveiled from Chinese intellectual history when we consider the origins that underlie the differences between Chinese and Western philosophical thought: the use of ideograms.

This book is a journey of discovery, commencing with the mythical origin of Chinese philosophy in the Book of Changes, and progressively revealing how various schools of philosophy advance their inquiries, all undertaken in the pursuit of the Tao, the path.

WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 22

18h30-20h00

Room Q-609
6, rue du Colonel
Combes

Non-AUP members should register here:
[aup.edu/events-
chinese-philosophy](http://aup.edu/events-chinese-philosophy)

Department of History and Politics